Good morning –

I am sorry my office cannot specifically help you. However you can search the clinicaltrials.gov database. See the link below. Look at the left hand side where it says “Search for studies”. You can place the word “aptamers” there and see what comes up.

Home - ClinicalTrials.gov

Kind regards.

Subject: Regarding Aptamers Under Clinical Studies for Academic Purpose

Dear Sir/ Madam,

I am a PhD student in Biochemistry at [redacted]

I have been working on aptamers as Therapeutics and now seeking some valuable information to write a review on it.

Here, i am writing you to ask and request, whether can i get the information from your web portal about the status of aptamers under clinical studies?.

If so, could your please guide me,how to obtain the information about the aptamers under clinical studies for various human diseases?

Looking forward for your kind reply in this regard.

You may also let me know any other potential source to get this valuable peice of information that would be helpful to my studies.

Thank you,

Sincerely,
